A Party Paper and its Duties

For the sake of correcting an erroneous impression prevailing with many as to the relations which a newspaper should sustain to the party in whose interest it is enlisted, we have a word to say Properly conducted, it should express the sentiments of the people, and diffuse such information as to most effectually enlighten and elevate those sentiments instead of degrading and debasing them by an indulgence in low personal invective A newspaper may have nothing to do with the selection of names used upon a party ticket The people themselves are the competent judges in this regard, and when they have made their ticket and enunciated their principles the advocacy of those principles devolves upon the editor Realizing that it is impossible for the individual preferences of masses standing upon a common platform to be equally gratified one of the most important objects to be attained in the canvass is conciliation and unity of all the fragmentary and discordant elements, which want of success creates To this end, patriotism should totally submerge all considerations of aggrandizement, preference or prejudice Especially is this the case in a contest like the present. There has never been a time, in the history of our nation, when the presentation of an unbroken front by the Union party was so essential—when our brave and bleeding brothers on the field of carnage needed so much our moral support

There has never been a time when more effort was used than the enemies of the Union are now bringing to bear to defeat the purpose of the Union organization. The deception in some cases is so perfect that honest men are beguiled into support of a ticket the opposite of what they desire, and are induced to regard the regular Union ticket almost as an object of detestation, when, could they know the truth, they would shrink with horror at the thought of the viper they were cherishing in their loyal breasts To bring the truth to the knowledge of such men—to maintain with unfaltering devotion the vital principles which actuate the party—to expose with fidelity the tricks which political gamesters are playing under the name of patriotism —such are the duties devolving upon the faithful journal at a time like this

The proprietorship or control of a newspaper during a political campaign does not invest the person thus situated with any right to commit a breach of the public peace and of decency by the publication of slanderous articles or bitter personal abuse There are no associated circumstances which apologise for a gentleman ignoring the amenities of social life or the respect due his readers and their families, by the introduction thereto of matter unfit for reading at the fireside A newspaper when acceptable to a community is never divested of an important characteristic—that of a family companion and educator Everything that is wrong—everything against which the youth or age of the land should be advised and cautioned should find a place and receive all the attention its importance demands In pursuit of such a course we shall fight for principles, believing that by an avoidance of personalities, we can best subserve the interests of the cause we espouse If our neighbors are in error while they mean well, abuse of their supposed personal friends is not apt to carry conviction to their minds so soon as candor and sense.

WE TAKE IT BACK —The subjoined letter is to the point, and does honor to the writer Our assertion yesterday was based upon absolute knowledge of the fact that some persons intended to circulate tickets on Monday with Mr. Lovejoy's name instead of Mr Eddy's, who is the regular Union nominee The importance of the election on next Monday is fully realized by all, those opposed to the success of the Union ticket, and hence no stone is left unturned whereby a division of the Union vote may be secured There are a great number of "reformed" politicians—eleventh hour Union men—who are Union men only because the Union party is in power, and without an avowed sympathy with the Administration loaves and fishes could not be rewarded It is high time our loyal citizens were as wide awake to the strategy of masked copperheads as the aforesaid copperheads are to all the tricks of political chicanery We are confident that if the Union men would take the trouble to examine the credentials of such men as are now seeking to sow dissension among them by the introduction of independent tickets, they would be compelled in too many instances to remove a good coat of verdigris—extending back to the last presidential term before finding much worthy the name of honest birth, either to the Administration or the Union Mr Lovejoy came near being made an unconscious instrument of electing the copperheads but we hope that now his neighbors are undeceived by his letter they will go with him to the polls and stand by the Flag of our Union

OREGON CITY June 2d 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN

I notice in the OREGONIAN of this morning my name is an Independent candidate for State Senator for Clackamas county Allow me to state that the same is wholly without my knowledge or consent and under no circumstances would I allow my name to be used as such nor will I serve if I should be elected

While I remain I ever
Yours with great respect
A J LOVEJOY

The Capital Question

Voters should remember at the polls that they are called upon to decide the question of permanently locating the State Government as well as permanently quieting the claims of traitors to a voice in our Legislative assemblies In the selection of a State Capital sectional prejudices should be forgotten, and the best interests of the State at large only considered Upon the result of this vote depends much of advantage or disadvantage, and the prospective as well as present population of our thriving country should be taken into account There is little doubt but that after the Eastern or mining section becomes populous as its richness justifies us in anticipating, another State will divide the golden soil with Oregon In this event it would be a lasting misfortune to have all our public buildings at any point far from the centre of trade and travel The growing population of our Western counties will require the Capital near the centre of the great highway from the ocean to the interior,—a place to which all those who have business at the Capital must resort for the transaction of their commercial as well as political affairs

The city of Portland, without doubt, is geographically disposed more advantageously, as the centre of trade and travel for the location of the permanent capital buildings, than any other place in the State Indeed, the very opposition which some sections have without provocation commenced is evidence of the fact being conceded There never yet has been a session of the Legislature, no matter where held, the members of which have not nearly all come to Portland before returning home The State Library would better fulfil the objects of its foundation at this point than at any other, and we have no fears but that the agrarian spirit which appears to animate the opponents of Portland, will be properly rebuked at the polls.

A Slander Refuted

Some disaffected persons have made themselves busy circulating a report that Judge Williams was in favor of the Independent candidates for the Legislature. The following facts show conclusively that the statement is a base slander, got up for the double purpose of injuring the Judge and helping the Independent ticket: Judge Williams was a delegate to the Convention, and after the nominations had all been made, himself introduced the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted at the Union State Convention

Resolved That we endorse and reaffirm the resolutions adopted at the Union State Convention

Resolved That we will give the candidates nominated at the Union State Convention and the candidates nominated by this Convention, our hearty support and use all honorable means to secure their election

In a letter of May 22d, written from Salem to J. J Hoffman, Esq, he speaks as follows in regard to the Independent movement

Please advise me as to what is going on politically in Portland I have heard that there is a petition circulating asking Holbrook to run as an Independent candidate. Who are concerned in that matter of the Union men? I would advise you to have nothing to do with any tickets or candidates except those on the regular Union ticket. Please inform me if any use is made of my name in connection with any opposition to the regular ticket, also, it is wholly unauthorized, and contrary to my wishes

The United States Senate has passed a joint resolution, providing for the publication of reports, telegraphic despatches, etc, received by the Secretary of War, giving accounts of movements and battles, in chronological order This will be a valuable chronicle of the war, which is much needed Strange as it may seem, the official report of Major Anderson detailing the surrender of Fort Sumter, has never been published

UNION MASS MEETING TO-NIGHT — Hon David Logan and others will address the citizens of Multnomah county, at the Willamette Theatre this evening in support of the Regular Union Ticket An interesting time is expected, and all are invited to be present.

The Quincy Journal says that General Grant will probably take his time in going after Richmond, in order to save it for a Fourth of July picnic like he did Vicksburg a year ago

At one time it was orthodox to say that one Southron could whip three Northern men Times have changed and it is now asserted as a fact that a Southerner can't whip a single nigger

Speaking of rising with the lark, Artemus Ward says he should prefer to rise with gold

ECCENTRICITY —An eccentric man Norman Chaffee, died lately in South Wilbraham, Massachusetts Twelve years ago he began to prepare for death by making his own coffin which he always kept in his house He made it himself, sawing the boards in his own saw mill He also dug his own grave two years ago, walled and cemented it, prepared a large stone to cover it, and erected a monument suitably inscribed leaving a blank to be filled with the date of his death His wife survived him only five days, but he had made no arrangements for her burial

SIOUX INDIANS TO BE EXTERMINATED —The St Louis correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette writes that the largest Indian expedition ever fitted out on the continent is now moving towards Idaho having for its object the subjugation and extermination of the Sioux Indians The entire organizing, equipping and completing this mammoth enterprise has been conducted under Brig Gen Sully—headquarters in St Louis

The expedition will number three thousand cavalry and mounted infantry, with eight or ten pieces of cannon and such a force of friendly Indians consisting of Mandans, Bees, Crows, Delawares and Shawnees as General Sully can secure to act either as scouts or warriors The object is to rid the entire territory west of the Mississippi river of the hostile savages and leave it free from danger for the occupation of the thousands of miners flocking to the district where gold and silver abound

Gen Sully will establish infantry posts from Idaho to the Mississippi river and across to Minnesota, and he fully intends to make no half work of the undertaking It is quite significant that the Government takes so much interest in this Indian expedition, the secret of which if not found in the rich mines of Idaho, will hardly be found elsewhere It is manifestly to the interest of the Government to protect the emigration of miners to Idaho and this can only be done by an enterprise as large and powerful as that committed to the experience of Gen Sully The General suggested to the War Department the idea of using a number of the rebel prisoners now in our hands as soldiers in this expedition but no communication was received in return and the presumption is the idea was not approved

Gen Sully's opinion that there is good fighting material among the rebel prisoners many of whom are not only willing but anxious to take the oath of allegiance is probably correct also that the use thus made of them would serve to break them into a practical allegiance to the old Government again But the War Department probably concluded that the resources of the North are quite sufficient to achieve all the purposes of the Government and that its history will present a clearer page by not making any use whatsoever of those who have taken up arms to destroy it Gen Sully will leave for active duties in the field in the course of the ensuing ten days

A THRILLING INCIDENT OF THE WAR —Captain Wilson, Company M, 12th Kentucky Cavalry, is an unconditional Union man living in a strongly disloyal section of Kentucky His neighbors had threatened his life In consequence of this, Captain Wilson had fitted up a long crib across the road from his front door, as a sort of arsenal where he had his Henry rifle, Colt's Revolver, etc One day, while at home, dining with his family, seven mounted guerillas rode up, dismounted and burst into his dining room, and commenced firing upon him with revolvers The attack was so sudden that the first shot struck a glass of water his wife was raising to her lips, breaking the glass Several other shots were fired without effect, when Capt Wilson sprang to his feet, exclaiming, "For God's sake, gentlemen, if you wish to murder me, do not do it at my own table in the presence of my family" This caused a parley, resulting in their consent that he might go out doors to be shot The moment he reached his front door he sprang for his cover, and his assailants commenced firing at him Several shots passed through his hat and more through his clothes, but none took effect upon his person He thus reached his cover and seized his Henry rifle turned upon his foes, and in five shots killed five of them, the other two sprang to their horses As the sixth man threw his hand over the pommel of his saddle, the sixth shot took off four of his fingers, notwithstanding this he got into his saddle, but the seventh shot killed him, then starting out, Capt Wilson killed the seventh man with the eighth shot. In consequence of this feat the State of Kentucky armed his company with the Henry rifle —Hints to Riflemen

THE JUDGE KNOWS HIS MAN —Judge Studger, of the Nevada Gazette who is familiar with Sam Medary's history, sketches his likeness with pen and ink as follows

The telegraph brings us news of the arrest of one of the chief rebel emissaries in Ohio—Sam Medary, editor of the Columbus Crisis For the last two years his paper has teemed with the most outrageous abuse of the Government, and he is charged with complicity in the rebel conspiracy in Ohio last Fall which had for its object the liberation of the rebel prisoners confined within that State the seizure of the State arsenal and seat of Government, and the inauguration of civil war within her borders Medary is a life-long Democrat by profession, a rascal by practice a traitor from "pure cussedness," and ought to be hung on general principles Whether he is guilty of this last offense or not, his crimes heretofore have been amply sufficient to entitle him to ten feet of rope, and six feet of earth in the Potter's Field May he speedily meet with his reward!

GRAND CONTEST AT COPPER CITY — The Copper City Pioneer, published in Shasta county, in its issue of May 21st gives the particulars of strategy on the part of a Copperhead husband, which was successfully flanked by a brilliant movement on the part of a Union wife

The wife of D B Zell, residing on the south fork of Ripley's creek, in this district last week presented her astonished lord with a pair of bouncing twins at one birth. All hands are doing well as could be expected. Zell having recovered from the turpitude into which he was thrown by this unexpected advance of infantry says he claims the privilege of naming two of the infants which happen to be males, and being considerably of the Secesh, has dubbed one Stonewall Jackson and the other Lee Longstreet Mrs Zell who is strongly Union in sentiment, not to be outdone by a rebel has peremptorily served upon the daughters the respective names of Lincoln Anna and Alice Grant

A PARALLEL —The Cleveland Herald calls the following, to show the effect the Fort Pillow massacre is likely to have

The Texan revolution presented a notable instance of the effect of "no quarter" The defenders of Bexar fought till but six of the number remained alive These six, one of whom was Colonel Crockett surrendered on the promise of protection, but being taken before Santa Anna, they were by his order, instantly cut to pieces Their remains were burned in the centre of the Alamo, by which name the Fort was called by the Mexicans This brutality aroused a fire in the hearts of the Texans, which resulted at the battle of San Jacinto in the defeat of the Mexican army, and the capture of Santa Anna himself And it is recorded that at this battle the Texans with the battle-cry of "Remember the Alamo" carried all before them Remember Fort Pillow

☞ In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians Each deprecates whatever is an attempt to innovate upon received opinions and established usage Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague and eradicates bile from the system, is acknowledged by all

"BLACK"-MAILED.—A colored individual presented himself at our sanctum yesterday, and handed us a written document setting forth that he was a "stranger;" that while standing upon the corner of First and Morrison streets, in company with a "friend," they were approached by a Hoosier, "slightly under the influence of liquor," who asked them some questions they could not answer: and that afterwards this same Hoosier arrested them, on a charge of "disorderly conduct," making the aforesaid colored individuals, then and there, "pungle out" $10 each as a fine! The "first party of the first part" had applied to us for "redress of grievances:" Thinking we had a pretty clear "case" we "advised" our client to ascertain who that Hoosier was, and we would act upon the matter. THE HIGH WATER.—The water in the river has gradually attained a height that is now above the high water mark of 1861, and within about seven feet of the high mark of 1862. The present stage is surprising when it is known that there was comparatively but little snow in the mountains during last winter. All predictions seem to be general failures in regard to the rise and fall of the waters annually. During the winter of '62–3 the snow in the mountains was thought to be enough for an inundation of some of our cellars at least, and at the commencement of the rise, merchants along the wharves moved their goods out, but the water did not reach the basements, and their trouble could have been ... This season it is altogether different. With little cause for apprehensions of a flood some have failed to get their goods out, and by "piling" them up, had hoped against the difficulty until there was no hope left, and were at last succumbed to the gathering waters.

ESCAPE AND CAPTURE.—Dan. Hyde, one of the men sentenced from Baker County about eight months since, for stealing an amount of gold dust from his partners on Eagle creek, escaped from the convict gang yesterday afternoon, where they were at work on the Robertson Hill road. He had but about four months' time to serve, and had been trusted by the keepers to bring water from a spring for the convicts to drink, and while on his ..., as stated, took advantage of the position, and effected an escape through the brush. He wore a heavy shackle and chain, and was re-captured one and a half miles from town, on the Scholl Ferry Road, by Mr. Ralston, one of the keepers, as he emerged from the woods.

SEVERE FIGHTING.—Two boys engaged in a fight on Tuesday evening last, near the Plaza on Third street, in which one of them was severely cut about the head, with a rock or solid chunk of clay, that he had to be assisted home, where he lay in a state of stupor for several hours, and has since been under the attendance of a physician. We are unable to learn the cause of the difficulty, and only ... that the fight was severe and lasted for a ... time. The boys are getting up in ... pretty extensively, about Portland.

A CRYING EVIL.—During the busy time at the wharf, previous to the departure of the steamship on Thursday evening, a small scow was floated over the lower dock, containing several live hogs for shipment. It so occurred that they were landed immediately under the office window of the Agent's building, and their shrill notes were set down by the clerks as a "crying evil."

IN A FIX.—A horse with a pack on its back, commenced a series of the Mustang tactics on Front street yesterday, and after "bucking" the pack loose, started to run, kicking at every jump, which was kept up for a considerable time, until the panting animal finally ... its burden and was relieved. The scene attracted much attention, and made sport for a crowd of "precious" youths, who ... always better in the streets than any other place.

A LOAD OF GOLD.—The drayman of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express Company, in this city, occasionally hauls some pretty valuable loads, and on Thursday evening had what might be considered "over average." The bullion, boxes, and packages taken to the steamship ... loaded one dray, the weight being ... to set the springs down solid. A pair of horses, and a truck will be necessary to do that work in a few weeks.

MORE MULES.—A pack train of fifty-four animals arrived in this city yesterday from Placerville, California, and were soon shipped on a stock boat, and taken in tow of the steamer Vancouver for Vancouver. These animals were purchased by Mr. Levi Friedenrich, from the Washoe and Mono routes, for use on the Boise and Owyhee trails.

CORRECTION.—The account of $35, credited to Chief Engineer Buchtel, in our report of the Council proceedings yesterday morning, was incorrect. It was an account of E. J. Northrup & Co., against the city, for goods purchased by the Chief Engineer for the use of the Fire Department, to the amount of $3 50.

ALL CLEAR.—The business at the lower wharf, for the past two weeks has been decidedly active, until yesterday. The ocean vessels having all taken their departures left the wharf all clear, and it is at present a very dull locality.

STOCK SALES.—The "Crane and Driggs" appears to be the favorite stock in market—another sale of ten feet of the reserved stock of this Company, was made yesterday, at $100 per foot. The purchasers, so far, are among the best business firms of the city.

TICKETS.—The variety of tickets which have been presented to the optics of Loakilbeans, during the past few days, remind him that there is an in-sufferable amount of suffer-ages to be taken into account on Monday.

NO DISPATCHES.—Again we are without our dispatches. This time the wire is down beyond Albany.

BRANCH OF THE STAR.—Herman & Murphy are branching out in their business. At No. 1 North Front a branch of the popular Star Bakery has been established in connection with their grocery trade, and at 88 First st. they have started in a line after the original pattern. See their advertisement.

JEWELRY.—Attention is called to the advertisement of Messrs. Stewart & Gourley, 103 Front street. Their assortment of Jewelry will bear inspection: and as they have some new styles of goods, fresh importation from New York, their establishment bids fair to become quite popular.

THE FIRST CASTING.—To-day the first castings will be made at the new foundry of the Oregon Iron Works, when that establishment will be formally dedicated to the use of the public.

EDITOR OREGONIAN.

SIR:—In view of the fact that statements have been made touching my loyalty, I am induced to make the following statement: I am and have ever been in favor of the vigorous prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion and the perpetuity of the Union.

my30tf Respectfully yours, O. RISLEY.

REPORT AND REVIEW.

PORTLAND, Friday June 4th—2 P. M.

Transactions for the week now closing have been brisk in all the branches of trade. The sales, both from first and second hands, are much increased over those matured for many weeks past. The animation has been particularly discernable in the grain market and there has been a decided improvement in the amount of trade. Besides extra amounts received by river steamers, large quantities have arrived from the country in wagons, and the ruling figures in cash have been: for Oats, 65@70 cents; for Wheat, $1 @$1 15.

Transactions in Flour have been of a speculative character, and heavy shipments to Victoria and San Francisco, have had a tendency to materially increase prices. Standard and Imperial Standard brands are held at $8 00; all country brands are selling at from $6 75 to $6. On the 24th ult., extra brands of Oregon Flour were quoted in San Francisco market at $7 50 in qr. sacks, while the best brands of San Francisco superfine were placed at the same price.

The changes we have to note in the articles of domestic produce is a slight reduction in the price of Bacon, sides and hams, and an advance in the price of Eggs. Potatoes are dull—transactions for the week have been light from first hands, at the ruling rate of 37@40 cents per bushel.

The Wool market opens gradually. Several small lots have changed hands during the past few days at from 20 to 22 cents. In California there is very little doing, but the market is firm and 37½@47 cents per pound are noticed, for a lot of 225,000 lbs of fine California wool.

How Mr Cisco was Deceived about his own Handwriting—In the case of Mr Jno W Hunter, charged with forgeries upon the Sub Treasury, the examination of which is now progressing before Commissioner White, in the city of New York, Mr John J. Cisco has proved a swift witness He swore positively that the signatures which Hunter declares are forgeries were genuine and he could not by the most skilful cross questioning be induced to abate a jot from this position He never had been and never intended to be deceived upon the subject of any handwriting with which he was familiar If his personal and business friends thought that he was an innocent man, that was their business, not his If a man should come forward and swear that he perpetrated these forgeries, the complacent and experienced Cisco would not believe him Why? Had he not made up his mind that Hunter had sacrificed his reputation, destroyed his family, and swindled the Government, for the paltry monetary considerations produced by these checks, and in doing so, had be—Cisco—not noted quite independently of others? He could not afford to pity the delusion of those who thought that the signatures were forged! But after his long experience he was not going to doubt his own infallibility The Custom House officials who proved their faith in the integrity of the accused man by becoming his sureties, when he was arrested, simply erred in judgment He could not be guilty of such a grievous and unaccountable error, for he was—Cisco.

The clear testimony of this gentleman threatened to fix the crime and its penalty upon one whose antecedents were quite as respectable as his own, but the sagacity of one of the defendant's lawyers—Mr Pierrepont—averted its accomplishment, and we will venture to say rescued Mr Hunter from the peril in which he had been placed, through Mr Cisco's zeal and self confidence

During the examination on Tuesday last, Mr Pierrepont quietly handed Mr Cisco a scrap of paper on which there was a line written, and said

"Mr Cisco, is that your handwriting?"

"Unquestionably"

"Does it alter it any, in your judgment, that it is a little blurred there?"

"Not at all, it is unquestionably my handwriting!"

The shrewd lawyer, after this little episode induced the witness to reiterate his former statements, and to swear, positively, that nobody could deceive him in a signature known to him, when he produced a climax that must have been startling, by declaring that the signature that Mr Cisco asserted was his was written in the presence of five or six eminent bankers of this city, by a gentlemen, Mr Payne who was then in court. That was an effort worthy of Bourcicault It was dramatic in the highest degree It sensationized the [illegible], electrified the auditors, relieved the pressing anxieties of Hunter, and staggered the [illegible] Cisco It was a blow well conceived and well put, and we repeat our belief that it has rescued Hunter from a painful dilemma—N Y Courier

Benjamin F Butler.—History records few instances of a man of mature age springing at [illegible] by virtue of his own actions and expressions [illegible] in a universal unpopularity and a general public obloquy, to a position where his praise should be on the lips of almost every [illegible] and in the rare instances which [illegible] is generally the individual who [illegible] convert to the views of the masses [illegible] not the masses who become converts to the principles of the individual. One of these [illegible] that of the gentleman whose name [illegible] this article Living for a year in a strong [illegible] slavery community, he opposed with its views the active antagonism of an intense [illegible] slavery mind A man of ambition, of [illegible] great originality of thought, of remarkable clearheadedness and sagacity, he [illegible] an apparently cold eye upon the pomp of office and the sweets of power, and up to [illegible] Sumter opposed the radical anti-slavery sentiment of Massachusetts and pro-slavery [illegible] equally radical Butler was [illegible] the stronghold and the life of Massachusetts democracy, he voted many times [illegible] Charleston Convention, of 1860, for Jefferson Davis for the Democratic nominee [illegible] of the United States, and up to the attack on Sumter, the South, with her peculiar institutions and her public men, possessed [illegible] earnest or potent adherent in the [illegible] than Benjamin F Butler The assault [illegible] our flag made by the insolent South Carolinians, seemed to change the whole nature [illegible] man, and from a strong pro-slave [illegible] supposed secession longings and [illegible], he became the most radical of [illegible] and the most ferocious of abolition[illegible] He displayed a most wonderful alacrity [illegible] to the defence of Washington [illegible] his proselytism to anti slavery into [illegible] movements, and was the ori[illegible] that slaves should be treated [illegible] contraband of war He gave to the [illegible] a new interpretation and a new signification and it was at once adopted in its new [illegible] to our language and our literature. It [illegible] to believe that the action of Butler was prompted by any other motive than a genuine though sudden revolution in senti[illegible] If he had desired to change his political [illegible] for personal purposes, he might have done so years before, and he possessed ability enough to achieve eminence and leadership in any party whose cause he might es[illegible] Gen Butler was not very successful at Fortress Monroe, and was transferred to New Orleans The splendid executive ability there displayed by him is yet fresh in the memory of our readers At the time of his arrival firm measures were needed to teach the revolted and recently conquered Louisianians that they could not trifle with or defy the Federal power with impunity, and firm measures were put in practice and kept in practice until they accomplished their object, notwithstanding the plaints and curses of the chivalry and the puling deprecation of northern "conservatives" When Butler, the Massachusetts lawyer, had made the Confederates of New Orleans feel—none too lightly—the iron hand of Federal power, Banks, the Massachusetts mechanic, was delegated to extend to them the conciliatory hand of Federal promise and Beast Butler," as the rebel ladies and the English secessionists chose to designate him, was retired from active duty for a while He was lately placed in command of a division and assigned to active service How well he is performing that duty, is apparent from the telegraphic dispatches received during the last few days Of him may be properly quoted that which a Western preacher once said of Saint Paul, "It took a streak of lightning to make him understand, but when he understood, he understood like thunder."—Virginia Union

Federal Hill in Baltimore is gradually disappearing The Sun of that city says

"Every heavy rain which prevails in this section of the country contributes to the gradual disappearance of Federal Hill, one of the noblest and most elevated points of observation within the limits of the city For several days past the heavy cliffs of earth of varied hues and strata which overhung the northern brow, have been tumbling down from an altitude of at least sixty feet to the street below, and it is now almost completely barricaded Should the hill continue crumbling away, the fort which surmounts it will have to be abandoned"

That Sword.—The New York lady correspondent of the Sacramento Union writes:

The sword so warmly contested for by the friends of rival Generals at the Sanitary Fair has at last fallen to Gen Grant For a long while the other candidates have fallen in the background and McClellan and Grant have remained alone upon the field 'Little Mac' is such a favorite that it was generally supposed that the sword would become his of course, but on the last evening of the Fair an envelope arrived containing a check for ten thousand dollars requesting the same number of votes to be recorded for ten loyal men of New York, who were anxious to uphold Grant, and the fate of the sword was sealed Ulysses S Grant was victor It appears that the result of the affair was so displeasing to some present that what an Irishman would call "a regular shindy" seemed inevitable, and was only averted by the opportune arrival of the drum corps escorted by a posse of police who divided the crowd, drowned their voices and closed the Fair to the public Grant's majority was fifteen thousand seven hundred and eighty two

An exchange asks, innocently if it is any harm for young ladies to sit in the laps of ages Another replies that it altogether depends on the ages selected Those from eighteen to twenty five it puts down as extra hazardous

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

without a solvent This, considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly, July 6, 1856, page 76)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption, Cancer, Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism Neuralgia, Nervous Affections Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full strong and florid
